

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The electronic payment method includes steps of registering at a website an amount informed from a salesperson terminal operated by a salesperson via the Internet, registering at the website an electronic payment method specified by a customer for the amount, when the customer accesses the website by operating a customer mobile terminal, and making an external payment system execute the electronic payment based on the electronic payment method.